Foreword

Our college years slip by with breath-taking swiftness. In retrospect, the time we have spent at the University of Dubuque will seem like a dream, a pleasant prelude to the busy task of living.

The Class of 1940 takes pleasure in presenting this, the twenty-fourth edition of THE KEY, to the University family. It is our hope that this yearbook will capture and hold for them the living picture of a wonderful year of Christian college activity.

Edwin Blair Lindsay

*F*rom time to time in the life of a university, there come into its leadership men who profoundly affect the institution and greatly contribute to its enrichment. We are conscious that Edwin Blair Lindsay is such a friend and leader, and in recognition of this fact we are proud to dedicate to him the 1940 issue of THE KEY.

Senior Class History

That the dignified and illustrious graduating class of 1939 were once humble and slightly green freshmen is hard to believe, yet 'twas in 1935 that this class made its first appearance on the campus of the University of Dubuque.

Even back in 1935, it was plain to anyone who deigned to notice the freshmen that here was one class likely to succeed in its four years at the University. Scorning the traditional green caps, this class won the tug-of-war with ease, and with this auspicious start, went on to win the prize for the most attractive and original Homecoming decorations in Steffens Hall. Individual class members furthered the honor of the class by taking active part in such extra-curricular activities on the campus as intramurals, choir, debate, and varsity athletics. A freshman won the cross country race and a freshman won the intramural tennis contest. Thus under the leadership of Thomas Megahey, president; Robert McCaffrie, vice-president; Harriet Beattie, secretary; and Ned Garvin, treasurer, the freshman class ended its first year more than a hundred strong.

The fall of 1936 found the class of 1939 smaller in quantity, but just as strong in quality. The freshmen defeated them in the tug-of-war, but they found supremacy in the field of interclass basketball and won the tournament. The class had representatives holding positions of leadership in all fields of campus activity. The officers for this year were Fred Abben, president; Helen Austin, vice-president; Mildred Board, secretary; and Robert McCaffrie, treasurer.

However it was during the junior year that the class came into its own. The "Key" for 1939 was edited by Helen Austin and under the business manager, Howard Strong, actually made a profit for the class and the school. The Junior Prom with an orchestra imported for the occasion was by far the most outstanding social event on the campus. Fred Hanse, president; Herbert Borchers, vice-president; William Watters, secretary; and Donald Emery, treasurer, guided the class through a happy and productive year.

This year, upholding the dignity of the class and the University has been a natural responsibility. In athletics, the abilities of Donald Emery, William Watters, Donald Threlkeld, Ned Garvin, Herbert Borchers, and Robert McCaffrie have been outstanding. The class basketball team finished the season in second place, with a record of six victories and two defeats. It was well led by such basketball stars as Eldon Christensen, Andres Andresen, Herbert Borchers, and Donald Emery. In journalism, the capability of Ethel Harris and Helen Austin is of note. The fine work of Frederick Abben and Elinor Rodden in the field of dramatics has been recognized. Howard Strong and Donald Threlkeld have proved themselves to be excellent business managers, by their record of success with the 1939 Key, The Cue, and the 1938 Junior Prom. The Student Council has five senior members, Frederick Abben, William Watters, David Humke, Helen Austin, and Mildred Board. Two members of the Senior Class are serving the church as student pastors, Homer Ogle, and Howard Strong. Students of the Class of 1939 have displayed a keen interest in every phase of activity, and have taken their rightful place of leadership in the University.

The management of the class this year was vested in Homer Ogle, president; Vernon Wolthoff, vice-president; Ethel Swartwood, secretary; and Howard Strong, treasurer.

With happiness mixed with reluctance, this class dons cap and gown and ends its active life on the campus of its beloved Alma Mater, the University of Dubuque. We go on to the final phase of membership in the University family, the Alumni. Memories of our experiences on this campus will never be forgotten by us. Just as we have affected the pattern of the school, so has the school left its impression on the pattern of our lives.

It is with regret that we leave the friendly halls of the University that has been our home for the past four years, and with hopeful anticipation that we look forward to returning in the future.

Junior Class History

Today we Juniors look back with stately dignity and a slight degree of tolerance to the day when we were but Freshmen, entering into University history. But we will admit that we were exceptional Freshmen. First of all, we were the largest freshman class that the University had seen up to that time. We started out on the right foot by upsetting the lordly Sophomores in the traditional tug-of-war. No green caps for us! Next we tried our luck at football, and placed our quota of men on the team. The school will long remember men like Bucky Rogers, Francis Eberhart, Ted Miller, Douglas Walton, and Melvin McDonald. Not content with this, we furnished such fine material for the basketball squad as Ted Miller, Melvin McDonald, and Bob Peterson. Our men starred in track, too. Early in the year one of our number, Bert Arnold, won the annual cross-country race; and during the varsity season, we were represented by Bob Peterson, Leo Hart, Bert Arnold, Francis Harris, and Mel McDonald. Bob Peterson added to our glory by meeting the national requirements for Sigma Delta Psi. Our men captured five first places in intramural sports, and won three out of five firsts in the wrestling tournament.

In the other fields of school activity, our class was ably represented. In vocal and instrumental music, journalism, debate, and dramatics, representatives of the Class of 1940 were prominent. Dorothy Banks won the state championship in extemporaneous speaking, to add to our prestige.

This successful year was completed under the guidance of Helen Baumgartner, president; James Gill, vice-president; Dorothy Triller, secretary; and Francis Eberhart, treasurer.

Upon our return as Sophomores, we continued our trek toward fame. Our first task was to put the Freshmen in their place by once more winning the tug-of-war. We fixed those green caps to stay! Our stars once more supported the football, basketball, tennis and track teams. In the fall, Anne Arends, a new member of our class, was chosen football Homecoming Queen. As in the year before, our members were evident in all phases of school life. Jane Nowlin's dramatic talent became recognized through her brilliant performances in University plays. Dorothy Banks won another state speech championship, and Bob Peterson copped the Iowa Conference tennis title. Leading us through this fine year were Robert Dick, president; Dorothy Banks, vice-president; Helen Morrison, secretary; and Fletcher Condit, treasurer.

As Juniors we have continued to give our support to the athletic teams. Our class is proud of three varsity captains this year. Robert Rogers captained the football team and Melvin McDonald the basketball squad, while Robert Lungwitz was elected the first captain of the wrestling team. John Wilson, flashy all-conference half back, and Hank Seibert are two fine athletes who joined our class this year. Curricular activities again were entered into by our members of the Junior class.

The fine ability of Marian Swalve in her guidance of the Y. W. C. A. this year, is a feather in the cap of the class. Anne Arends, Karol Hok, and Evangeline Stoneburner have distinguished themselves in the field of music. Certainly the Class of 1940 is richly endowed with scholastic attainments. The list of honor students is far more represented by juniors than any other class. Our group combines a high average intellectual standing with the "spark" and "punch" of outstanding individuals. We look forward with steady confidence to bearing the full responsibility of our senior year at the University of Dubuque.

Officers for this year are William Grings, president; Frances Bajema, vice-president; Violet Leuthold, secretary; and Edward Dirks, treasurer.

Sophomore Class History

September 9, 1937 was a glorious day, for on that date the class of 1941 started breaking records! The first record broken was the enrollment of the entering class—a class that numbered 182.

We bravely stood on the threshold of our college life, and rolled up our sleeves for the task of making a place for ourselves in the University. We were a little slow in getting started, but once underway, we soon made our presence felt among the more experienced classes. We could look forward eagerly to four years of leadership in the school. No other class in the history of the University so profoundly affected its character. Through the influx of new freshmen football stars the University rose from a position of perennial conference doormat, to third place in the Iowa Conference.

We were unfortunate in that we lost the annual tug-of-war to the Sophomores, and had to wear the despicable green hats until Homecoming. Stung by this defeat, we rallied to exhibit our true strength by winning the basketball and volleyball tournaments, the swimming meet, and the cross country and indoor track meets. In wrestling, we placed five out of the six entrants from our class in the gold medal division. On top of these honors, many of our men made the varsity squads in track, basketball, and in football, and proved themselves to be invaluable assets.

Forward, always forward was our motto, with the slogan, "The freshmen march on!" We were instrumental in the placing of the school debate team in their many successful encounters, and one of our number went to the finals of the national meet at Omaha. In all fields of music—choir, band, and orchestra—the weight of our contribution was felt.

The class was fortunate in having the capable leadership of Erwin Schwartz, president; Alice Rabenberg, vice-president; Robert Spencer, secretary-treasurer.

Our Sophomore year began with the losing of the tug-of-war to the Freshmen, but we have swept the field in other phases of activity. Our high-scoring basketball team surprised everyone by winning the basketball tournament, our class won the Blue and White Club prize for Homecoming decorations, and a lovely classmate, Miss Hilda Balster, was elected Homecoming football Queen. Many regular members of varsity athletic teams are in our class. The presence of Sophomores on the honor roll bears testimony to our scholastic ability.

The track prowess of Robert Stoneburner, Raymond Stumbaugh, Arthur Blaha, and Nate Dodge is well known to everyone. In football, Art Blaha, Gene Werkheiser, Nate Dodge, and Bob Besch were in many respects the backbone of the team. We are fortunate in having Bill Holzhauer, a transfer student, to help represent the class in football next year. Milton Conzett's record in intercollegiate wrestling this year is an example of the ability of the Class of 1941. He was honored by being elected captain of the squad for next year, while Gene Werkheiser was chosen to pilot the football team. Erwin Schwartz has made a place for himself in basketball that places him in the University's hall of fame. He has been ably supported by the rebound work of Gene Werkheiser.

The officers elected to direct us this year are Nate Dodge, president; Hilda Balster, vice-president; Ray Stumbaugh, secretary-treasurer; Robert Besch, athletic manager.

In bearing out our motto, "Forward, always forward," we are looking ahead to even greater years during the remainder of our stay at the University.

Freshman Class History

After one hundred and eighty-five freshmen had met at the Freshman Mixer last fall, they left—not as separate students—but as the Class of 1942. This same feeling of unity has supported class activity and individual achievement throughout the year. Spurred on by a determination to prove their superiority, they won the tug-of-war with a systematic offence which amazed the confident Sophomores.

Soon after this victory, the class officers were elected: Russell Morris, president; Francis Lupie, vice-president; Sargent Wright, secretary; Richard Norton, treasurer; and Betty Berwanger, class historian. They merited the confidence of their fellow classmen by guiding them successfully through Homecoming festivities, financial problems, and the general difficulties of a first-year college class.

It was this freshman class which put much of the new spirit into University Intercollegiate athletics—from the grandstand, bandstand, and line-up. In football, the class added distinctly to the final conference standing of the team, through the ability of Lozosky, Gilbertson, Morris, Brou-sard, Barzilosky, Lupie and Schiers. It presented the basketball team with several brilliant performers. Among them were Reidel, Lozosky, and Lupie, the team's highest scorer. In tennis, track, and wrestling, the coaches found promising material for future stars in Conzett, Deiter, and Casteel. Meanwhile, the girls' basketball team was composed almost wholly of freshmen.

Unusually well-rounded, the class was also remarkably prominent in the field of music. Freshmen played an important part in the success of the a cappella choir. In band and orchestra, too, the ability of the new comers made this year musically outstanding.

The new class also made a place for itself in dramatics, journalism, and oratory. In the three plays presented this year, freshmen were prominent both in acting, and in production. The Cue staff and debate team were well supported by freshmen.

Throughout the year, this new Freshman Class has learned to know and respect the activities and traditions of the University. The friendships formed in the social life on the campus, and the benefits of extra-curricular activities have equipped its members well for the task of leadership that will come to them during the next three years. At the end of its first year, the largest class in the history of the school now looks on its record with pride, and toward its future with pleasant anticipation. We have proved to ourselves and to the school that we have the qualities necessary for the job ahead of us. Our influence will be felt even more keenly in years to come.

Theological Seminary

With the growing need of the Church for intelligent, well trained leadership, the place of the Seminary is becoming more and more significant in the University and in the Presbyterian Church. Since 1852 the Seminary of the University of Dubuque has had an ever increasing influence in the Protestant Church of the Middle West.

Because of its limited enrollment, which allows a mutual interchange of ideas, interests, and problems between students and faculty, the Seminary can thus ably prepare young men to direct the work of the local Church.

One of the activities which has aided the Seminary students and residents of Van Vliet Hall in the attainment of a deeper spiritual life is the evening devotional services held in the Seminary chapel under the leadership of the students themselves. The majority of the Seminary students have been serving in positions of leadership in nearby churches and have contributed valuable services to these churches which otherwise would be without trained leadership of any kind. Regular morning chapel services are held twice a week under the guidance of the faculty. Besides the regular faculty members who took part in these services, the Senior and Middler students each took charge of one of the services, and special speakers during the year included:

The Rev. Emil Holzhauser, Ph.D., Professor of Languages, North Dakota Wesleyan; The Rev. F. W. Eastwood, D.D., Washington, Iowa, Moderator of the Synod of Iowa, the Rev. Otto Frerking, Superintendent of Bethany Home, Dubuque.

The Seminary Fellowship, student organization of the Seminary, brought to the campus as special speakers during the past year:

The Rev. D. L. McNary, D.D., First Presbyterian Church, Freeport, Illinois, "Why Religion Lags Behind Science and Invention."

Dr. Charles J. Turck, Board of Christian Education, "The Church and Society."

Dr. E. C. Homrighausen, Lecturer in Christian Education, Princeton Theological Seminary, "The Church and the Nation."

Campus Life

Facing the largest freshman class ever enrolled at the University of Dubuque, the administration decided to give the newcomers several days of orientation to the University before the regular activities of the 1938-39 school year began.

They set aside Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday of the week before registration for upperclassmen, to give placement tests and acquaint the freshmen with the school and its facilities. Thursday and Friday the freshmen were given Freshman placement tests, which were to serve as a guide in mapping out a year's program of study. Saturday was spent in consultation with advisers and final registration for classes. Saturday evening an informal Freshman Mixer was given as a bit of respite from this round of preparation. Dancing and light refreshments were the order of the evening. Sunday morning, the upperclassmen escorted many of the new students to church.

By this time the freshman classmen were pretty well acquainted with each other and the school, and felt less green and insecure. Long ere the time came for the annual tug-of-war between the freshmen and sophomores, the newcomers had banded together as a definite organization and set out to pull the cocky sophs over the line. Because of their defeat the year before, the sophomores were out for revenge, confident that the campus would be dotted with green caps until Thanksgiving, as the forfeit the freshmen must always pay when they lose the tug-of-war.

To the delight of the freshmen and the chagrin of the sophomores, the cheeky freshmen relentlessly pulled the sophomores, despite their combined efforts, over the white line. Much exultation was shown by freshman bystanders as they watched the sophomore line yield inch by inch.

Following the tug-of-war, a picnic supper was served on the lawn by Miss Bock and her assistants to all the faculty and students. Thus ended the Freshman Rush Day, the freshmen highly elated over their victory, and everyone else amused. Of course, the green caps disappeared at once, not to be seen until a new class enters the University next year.

Homecoming

Homecoming! Familiar, friendly faces—warm handshakes — boisterous greetings — the old grads back stronger than ever before! Many forms of entertainment found their place in the University's calendar for the Homecoming Week, the activities gradually leading up to a climax on Saturday.

Monday evening, the Dubuque Academy of Music gave a recital in Peters Commons to an appreciative audience. On Wednesday evening, the University's A Cappella Choir sponsored an appearance of the Chicago Artists Octette in Peters Commons. Kane Heights Athletic Field was the scene of a pep meeting, bonfire and snake-dance at six forty-five o'clock Friday evening. The Freshman class, together with the "D" Club, built a huge bonfire in the center of the field, around which the cheerleaders led the students in one of the best pep meetings of the year. Cheers, songs and pep talks filled the air.

By eight o'clock the same evening, the Little Theater in Peters Commons was packed with students and alumni waiting for the curtain to rise on the first play of the year to be presented by the University's Dramatic Department, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room." The performance was not a take-off on the venerable melodrama, but a "straight" presentation of the problem of drink and its dire consequences. Stage settings, costumes and between-the-acts specialties all helped to create the atmosphere of the "gay nineties."

Saturday morning dawned bright and clear, and soon the campus was filled with hustle and bustle of preparation for the big Homecoming football game. The buildings on the campus were all decorated in blue and white, each class having been assigned a certain building to decorate. Stefens Hall and its entrances were effectively adorned with stalks and ears of corn by the Freshman Class, the other buildings having been decorated by the upperclassmen. Rivalry ran high in anticipation of the judging that was to take place in the afternoon.

Beautiful weather, plenty of school spirit, a band dressed in brand new blue and white uniforms, and excited crowds cheering a team confident of victory—all these contributed to the atmosphere of the game at Municipal Athletic Field that Saturday afternoon. Again this year, the team had elected a "Football Sweetheart" to rule the Homecoming festivities. Three girls had been nominated: two juniors, Evangeline Sharp of Freeport, Illinois, and Abbie Rae White of Dubuque; and Hilda Balster, a sophomore of Monticello, Iowa. Miss Balster, a tall, striking brunette with the friendliest smile imaginable, was selected by the squad to be their queen.

Down Main Street came the long procession of gayly bedecked cars filled with loyal University students, led by the band, inspired to extra effort by their colorful new regalia. The game fulfilled all expectations. Of course we won—13-0: Buena Vista was no match for us that day.

Homecoming

Deliriously happy, students and alumni gathered in the Commons for the annual Homecoming banquet that night.

Places were set for five hundred guests at the long candle-lighted tables decorated in football style. Queen Hilda reigned over the football squad's special table. Dr. Herman S. Ficke presided as toastmaster, introducing Charles Holtz, an alumnus of the University, who delivered the address of welcome. Another distinguished alumnus, Dr. H. F. Sinning of Kamrar, Iowa, presented a report as chairman of the "Corn Week" committee. The idea of a maintenance fund built up by contributions of corn from the rich fields of Iowa was an innovation on this campus, suggested by the unusually bountiful crop of the year, and was a decided success. Winner of the contest for the most effectively decorated buildings was announced at the banquet: much to their delight, it turned out to be the freshmen.

The dance which followed was sponsored by the "D" Club. Robert Rogers, football captain, led the Homecoming Queen in the Grand March which climaxed the evening, and incidentally, the week's festivities.

The Homecoming Celebration Committee, to which so much credit is due for the success of the gala week, was composed of Mrs. Minnie Giesecke Wight, chairman; Dr. Francis W. Kracher, hospitality; Dr. Herman S. Ficke, dinner program; Mrs. Robert C. Wilson, decorations; Miss Blanche Bock, dinner arrangements; Don Emery, party and dance arrangements; and Mr. D. D. Knight, invitations and publicity.

MISS LAURA FOWLER CAMPBELL

May Fete

Climax of the long series of varied entertainments that go to make up the social life of the University, comes the May Fete! It is eagerly looked forward to from that exciting day in mid-April when the queen is chosen from a list of five candidates by a vote of the entire student body.

Never in the history of the University has a more colorful pageant been staged than the May Fete of 1938, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. in McCormick Gymnasium, one end of which had been converted into the white-pillared veranda of a Southern colonial mansion with rose trellises in full bloom and a spacious green lawn in front.

Beauty and charm were combined as the royal procession slowly wended its way toward the picturesque piazza with its stately white columns. Leading the procession, Alvin Gilbertson, the Town Crier, read the proclamation of the May Fete of 1938. The processional which followed the crier was composed of Miss Lois Bayly and John Lang, Miss Helen Bomgardner and Charles Miller, Miss Lucille Konzett and Herbert Fetrow, and Miss Lorraine Harberts and Harold Collins. Rosemary Aitken and Rhoda Hanger as flower girls strewed rose petals in the pathway of the queen, while little Paula Fitzke and Dickie Fox furnished a touch of color as Her Majesty's train-bearers.

The two maids of honor, Miss Carol Mundhenke of Dubuque, in pale blue; and Miss Ruth Jane Anderson of Dubuque, in pale yellow, preceded the queen, Miss Laura Fowler Campbell of Dubuque. All three girls were seniors in the College of Liberal Arts.

The tall, graceful queen was lovely in a bouffant gown of white faille, her filmy train spangled with tiny silver stars. Huge baskets of flowers lent their beauty and fragrance to the scene. During the coronation ceremony, the queen was presented with a gorgeous bouquet of roses by the Freshman Class representative, Miss Mary Hartman of Broadhead, Wisconsin. The Sophomore representative, Miss Ruth Noeding of West Bend, Iowa, gave her the satin pillow; the Junior representative, Miss Elizabeth Perry of Davenport, Iowa, offered her the sceptre; and Miss Jean Foley, the Senior Class representative, the crown of jewels. Last year's May Queen, the diminutive Miss Margaret Bayly, placed the crown on the reigning queen's head as the rest of the court stood to pay her homage.

For Her Majesty's pleasure, and that of her court assembled on the classic veranda, the operetta, "Cynthia's Strategy" was presented. Henrietta Peskach, coloratura soprano; Leo Hart, tenor; Jeannette Nancolas, contralto; and Paul Mathis, bass, were the leads in this highly amusing musical comedy, for which a chorus and a twenty-one piece orchestra directed by Floyd Rundle furnished the background. Miss Jane Nowlin directed the production. Two dancers, Miss Beth Latham of Guttenburg, and Miss Elaine Ricketts of Dubuque, entertained the court also.

Following the coronation ceremony and operetta, the gracious queen and her attendants formed a receiving line in front of the throne, where they were greeted by faculty, students and friends from the capacity audience which filled the gymnasium. The remainder of the evening was given over to dancing.

Much credit is due to Ruth Jane Anderson, president of the Y. W. C. A., and her committees for the success of the 1938 May Fete. Jean Foley, as chairman of the decorations committee, was ably assisted by Joseph Havard and Erwin Schwartz who, with the help of a band of volunteer workers, built and decorated the Southern mansion. Miss Anna Aitchison, Mrs. William B. Zuker and Mrs. Samuel S. George, as advisers to the Y. W. C. A., also lent their advice and co-operation in the management of the May Fete.

President's Reception

The President's annual reception, held in Peters Commons during the first week of school, is always an auspicious opening to the year's calendar of social events. It is here that both freshmen and upperclassmen formally meet the president and other administrative members of the faculty. At this time the newcomers really begin to be absorbed into the student body, to become a part of the University. At intervals throughout the year the remark can be heard, "Oh, yes, I remember you—I met you at the President's reception!"

This year the reception given by the President and Mrs. Welch was unusually large and representative of the University's steadily growing family. Not many of the faces so familiar on the campus were missing that evening, and an air of friendliness and good cheer pervaded the place.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Laube greeted the guests at the door and passed them on to Miss Anna Aitchison, who in turn presented them to the following faculty members who made up the receiving line: Dr. and Mrs. Dale D. Welch, Dr. and Mrs. Edward A. Wight, Mrs. William B. Zuker, Dr. and Mrs. John A. Garber, Miss Blanche Bock, and Mr. and Mrs. Anson Van Eaton. Dr. Zuker was unable to be present because of illness.

This annual event is one of the formal occasions of the school to which the faculty and students are all invited. Several hundred guests enjoyed the president's hospitality. Punch and small cakes were served from two candle-lighted tables presided over by Mrs. H. Clifford Fox, Mrs. Samuel S. George, Mrs. Jacob Bajema and Mrs. Francis W. Kracher. Great baskets of flowers blended with the girls' colorful formals to create a scene of memorable beauty at this, the first social event of the year. There can be little doubt that this traditional gathering together of the clan in the early days of each school year sets a pattern of friendliness for the long months ahead.

Mothers' Day Tea

There's a time once a year when the Y. W. C. A. girls are given the opportunity to honor their mothers. This time is the annual Mothers' Day Tea which was held on a Sunday afternoon from 2 o'clock to 5 in the Severance Parlors. This event made it possible for all of the mothers and girls to get better acquainted. The wives of the faculty members were also invited to attend. During the course of the tea a special program was presented. This pleasing musical attraction included vocal solos by Elizabeth Perry, accompanied by Doris Kaehr, and Leo Hart, accompanied by Anne Arends; a violin solo by Ruth Bauman, accompanied by Ruth Anderson; and several numbers were sung by the quartette composed of Leo Hart, Francis Eberhart, Fred Abben and Edward Dirks. Doris Kaehr played suitable selections on the piano during the afternoon. The floral decorations consisted of a huge center piece of mixed flowers surrounded by yellow lighted tapers. The committee in charge of the tea was Mildred Kaehr, chairman; Helen Baumgartner, presiding; Ethel Swartwood and Marian Swalve, program; Mrs. S. S. George and Laura Fowler Campbell, decorations; Frances Bajema, invitations; Lucille Conzett, Lorraine Harberts, Helen Austin, and Mildred Board, refreshments.

Commencement Week

Commencement Week is the one week of the school year that is crowded with all kinds of varied activities, and it is the week that might be said to be the most important in the life of a college student. In June, 1938, this busy week opened on Saturday, May 28, and closed the following Friday, June 3.

Saturday evening, at eight o'clock, Dr. and Mrs. Dale D. Welch held the formal reception for the seniors and faculty in Severance Parlors. At this time the senior men and women were recognized, presented, and congratulated by the faculty members.

Sunday the Gospel teams presided at a sunrise church service at Van Vliet Hall at seven o'clock, at which service the graduating students, faculty members, and friends were invited to attend. At one o'clock P. M. the Parents' Day Dinner was held in Peters Commons for all students of the University and their parents. The Band Concert followed at three o'clock, on the front lawn of Steffens Hall. In the evening at eight o'clock the Baccalaureate service was held at the Westminster Presbyterian Church. The sermon, "The Four-fold Gift of God," was delivered by Dr. Welch. This Baccalaureate cap and gown service has become a part of the graduation exercises through the tradition of the college. It might be considered to be an initial graduating procession, and the week would not be complete without it.

On Thursday, June second, at ten-thirty A. M., the board of directors met for the purpose of reviewing the past year and of making plans for the next one. That same day at six o'clock P. M., the annual Alumni Reunion Dinner was held in Peters Commons. Old friendships of University days are always renewed, and this feature of Commencement Week is awaited with much enthusiasm. After dinner the Alumni Oratorical Contest was held in the College Chapel. The contest was open to all college students with the exception of freshmen. This past year the prizes were awarded to Homer Ogle, first place; Orrin Moore, second place; and Romo Russo, third place. At nine o'clock the Alumni held their annual meeting in the parlors at Severance. At this time the new officers for the year were read, and the financial program was discussed.

Friday morning, June third, the Annual Alumni Chapel service was conducted at the Chapel. At twelve-thirty the Alumni banquet was held in the Commons. Senior Class Day exercises were also conducted in the College Chapel. Miss Dorothy Goebelt read the class prophesy, Senior Class President Charles Miller placed the mantle of seniority on the shoulders of Frederick Hanse, Junior Class president, and Paul Mathis sang a solo, "Old Man River." The class gift was presented to the school by Clarence Falkenhainer, and was acknowledged by Dr. Welch. Featuring the program was the valedictory address by Miss Ruth Jane Anderson.

The climax of four years of college study came with the commencement exercises Friday evening in McCormick Gymnasium. Forty-three students from the Liberal Arts College, seven Seminary students, and seven two-year Normal Training students received their well-earned diplomas. The main address of the program was "A Tragedy of Errors," delivered by Dr. Arnold H. Lowe, of St. Louis, Missouri, pastor of the Kingshighway Presbyterian Church.

Campus Activities

MAY BREAKFAST

Along with spring flowers and Easter bonnets, and serving as an opening occasion to the large number of social events which precede graduation, comes the May Breakfast. Students and faculty alike are invited to attend this traditional breakfast which is sponsored by the Student Council.

The freshness of spring was evident in the gay print dresses of the girls and the light suits of the men. The class themes and table decorations were all in keeping with the general idea, while the hilarious laughter proved how infectious is the spirit of youth and spring.

After a delicious breakfast, which was under the supervision of Miss Blanche Bock, Charles Miller, Senior class president acting as toastmaster, introduced each class, which then presented its skit as part of the program. The Senior class started the program with Harlan Troxell, radio announcer, and his troupe telling why "the Old Witch never got Snow White."

The Juniors followed with their presentation of a typical business meeting of the Alma Pater Club. A group of Junior men garbed as women kept the audience in continuous laughter with a humorous discourse on the desirability of marriage.

Next came the Sophomores with their modernized Snow White, whom they sent to college at the University of Dubuque. She met the seven dwarfs in the guise of her college professors, while her fairy prince turned out to be a mere everyday college mate.

The Freshman class gave the last, but not the least, of the skits. Under the baton of Maestro Paul "Sully" Schlegel, the class sang "night-club style," with a radio skit and humorous reading to complete their program. Frederick Brooks, representing the Theological Seminary, closed the program with a humorous black-face monologue on "Human Anatomy." With the good news that there would be no classes until after Chapel, the May Breakfast of 1938 came to a successful close.

FRESHMAN MIXER

As part of the freshman program of orientation, the school gave a party dance, at which the new freshmen could meet their fellow classmates. Informality was the keynote to this event. Entertainment consisted of group and ballroom dancing, with games for those who wished. Refreshments were served during the intermission.

CIVIC MUSIC

Again this year the students of the University were privileged to attend the concerts sponsored by the Civic Music Association of Dubuque. The program this year included: a joint concert with Suzanne Fisher, a lyric soprano, and Clifford Menz, a tenor, in a costume recital; the Kansas City Symphony Orchestra, directed by Karl Kreuger; and Hortense Monath, a concert pianist. This variety in the programs furnished the music lovers of the University both with inspiration and entertainment.

Campus Activities

VARSITY REVIEW

The annual opening of the Alpha Psi Omega Varsity Review was held in Peters Commons, in February. This evening of fine entertainment consisted of dancing from eight o'clock until twelve, with a program of novelty floor show acts, presented by the several social fraternities and sororities on the campus. Refreshments were served in cabaret style.

WASHINGTON DINNER DANCE

The Washington Dinner Dance has become one of the many fine annual social functions of the University. It is sponsored by the faculty and facultette. Dinner was served at six o'clock in the dining hall. At seven-thirty the guests retired to the Little Theater, for an hour of variety entertainment. Dancing continued from nine until twelve in Peters Commons, to the music of Ray Alderson's band. During the intermission, the faculty presented the Virginia Reel for the dancers.

JUNIOR PROM

One of the most beautiful and elaborate dances of the year is the Junior Prom, promoted by the Junior Class in May. The 1938 Prom featured the beautiful music of Stan Stanley and his orchestra. The Class of 1939 played host to the Class of 1938, the graduating seniors. Miss Elizabeth Perry, of Davenport, Iowa, was elected by the Junior Class to be the Queen of the Prom. The social calendar features three formal dances a year, Homecoming, Washington Dinner Dance, and the Junior Prom, which are all held on the campus.

INFORMAL DANCES

The administration has sponsored a series of informal dances in the dining hall of Peters Commons this year. Music was provided by electrical transcription over the public address system. These less formal social functions formed a vital part of the year's entertainment, and did a great deal toward keeping extra-curricular activity on the campus.

* * *

MASQUERADE

An outstanding social event this year was the Masquerade Ball. Those attending came attired in a wide variety of costumes, ranging from deep sea divers and Santas, to clowns and rag dolls. Miss Ethel Harris and Romo Russo received the prize for the best costumed guests.

* * *

PENNY CARNIVAL

The boys of Steffens Hall sponsored a penny carnival in the rooms and corridors of the administration building. Entertainment consisted of movies, museums, games of skill, and side shows—all for a penny. Hot dogs were served, and dancing to the music of the public address system completed the evening.

Student Council

The Student Council found its beginnings in 1933 upon the suggestion of President Buchholz that some sort of student body organization be formed that would organize student opinion and interpret it to the administration and the faculty. The original purposes of the Council were to promote improved dormitory life, to undertake the promotion of all types of student activities, and to establish a common ground of understanding and cooperation between student body and faculty.

Along these lines the Student Council has acted, insofar as the limitations put upon it would allow. Individual dormitory councils were formed for control of the life in the two dormitories, and a social affairs committee was formed which took over many of the social functions. However, during the past year, several new angles of necessary action have been seen and plans made to promote their furtherance.

Members of the Student Council were elected by their respective groups for this year as follows:—Mildred Board, Irene Haas, dormitory women; Helen Austin, Frances Bajema, city women; William Watters, David Humke, city men; Frederick Abben, Don Wilson, dormitory men; and Norman Frerking, Van Vliet Hall. Officers for the year, elected by the Council, have been: Frederick Abben, president; Helen Austin, vice-president; David Humke, secretary.

The Council members have not only been willing, but have given their full cooperation in all the activities sponsored by the individual organizations. In order to fulfill its duties and form a congenial spirit on the campus, the Student Council needs the full cooperation and loyalty of the student body. The Student Council is a product of the student body, and as such it cannot hope to transcend the norm of existing student idealism.

It welcomes all suggestions that will develop pride in and loyalty to our Alma Mater, but its future lies with the spirit and purpose of the students of the University of Dubuque.

Student Volunteers

The Student Volunteers stand for the following objectives: to disseminate missionary intelligence; to sustain a feeling of oneness of purpose with the missionaries in service; to lead the members into a fuller appreciation of the present missionary program of the church; to share in intercessory prayer for the world work of missionaries and the people whom they serve; to challenge the students with the needs of the missionary fields of today; to engage in missionary activity as the opportunity presents itself.

The regular meetings are held twice each month. They take the form of a business meeting, a song service, or a program of some particular country. Special meetings are called whenever missionaries are available. Some of the inspiring speakers were: Dr. Herrick Young, secretary of the Foreign Missions; Rev. Donald G. Christiansen, of Ketchikan, Alaska; Rev. H. S. Randolph, a National Missions Leader; and Rev. Leonard Odiorne.

Musical and Missionary programs were given at Monticello, Iowa, and Elizabeth, Illinois.

Recreation consisted of a picnic in October and one in May. Each meeting ending with a consecration song service.

The officers for the current year were: President, Chester Ahrens; Vice-President, Velda Hacker; Secretary-Treasurer, George Tjaden; Adviser, Dr. John A. Garber.

Y. W. C. A.

With "He who binds his soul to knowledge steals the key to heaven" as a motto, the Y. W. C. A. began its 1938-39 program, which was designed to achieve a greater knowledge of ourselves, and a greater knowledge of the world around us. Chief executive was Marian E. Swalve, assisted by Mildred Board as vice-president, Frances Bajema as secretary, and Velda Hacker as treasurer. Special fields of work were assigned to individual students. Irene Haas was chairman of the service committee; Helen Baumgartner headed the social committee; Fern Lewis, devotional; Doris Kaehr, music; Margaret Miller and Louise Eisenschmidt, publicity; Helen Austin, membership; Mildred Board, program; Clarice Strand, gospel team, and Elinor Rodden, conference.

Miss Anna Aitchison, Mrs. S. S. George, and Mrs. W. B. Zuker acted as faculty advisers.

After the initiation of new members there was a series of meetings devoted to the general topic: "A Look at Myself." The first was titled, "What About My Clothes?"; next, "How About My Manners"; then, "For Better, Not for Worse." A tea was given early in December, at which Mrs. Eyssen talked on "Teas." As usual, the Y. W. C. A. together with the Y. M. C. A. planned the annual Christmas party, which this year was an all-school Christmas supper. Closing the first semester's program was the discussion "Can I Ignore My Inner Self?"

The second semester's program was built around the theme of World Fellowship, the big world banquet being the main event. Others were the Mothers' Day Tea and the annual May Fete.

Y. M. C. A.

During the past year the Young Men's Christian Association has again contributed something vital and definite to the social as well as the religious life of the campus. The Y. M. endeavors to enlarge the vision of the young men, thus making them more efficient for service and leadership in the church and in the community.

To supplement the work of the organization several committees were appointed. The Program Committee, with Denley Ganfield as chairman, was responsible for the order of all meetings. The Service Committee, under the chairmanship of Reuben Tjaden, was responsible for the distribution of holiday baskets to the poor, and for aid in the work of the local churches. The Membership Committee, under the capable leadership of Andres Andresen, did a remarkable piece of work, and it is to this group that credit is due for the present strong membership list. In order to make sure that the boys had a "balanced diet," a Social Committee was formed with Herbert Guth as chairman. This committee arranged many evenings of fun and entertainment.

The past year has been unusually active for the organization. After a successful drive for new members, the next problem was to formulate a program of social activity. Projects were started which culminated in a roller-skating party, debates on current topics, hikes, and other forms of entertainment. Chapel services conducted by the Y. M. C. A. contributed to the religious life of the University.

The officers for the past year were:

Orrin Moore.....President
 Andres Andresen.....Vice-President
 Arthur Host.....Secretary-Treasurer

Gospel Team

The Gospel Team on the University of Dubuque campus is composed of those members of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. who are interested and willing to participate in Christian service whenever the opportunity arises.

The objectives of this group are manifold. Its members endeavor to help other people find Christ by bringing cheerful and inspiring messages to them; to develop a deeper devotion for Him and His service; and to promote fellowship in the true spirit of Christian living.

A cosmopolitan group is represented in the Gospel Team, for among its members are students from Czechoslovakia, Alaska, Puerto Rico, the Sioux Indian Tribe, and Bulgaria.

This year the organization, under the leadership of Professor John A. Garber as adviser, Clarice Strand as representative of the Y. W. C. A., and Reuben Tjaden as representative of the Y. M. C. A., has had a very active year.

These leaders, with their groups, conduct services both in Dubuque and surrounding Churches within a radius of one hundred miles. Many such programs have been held this year. Services have been conducted in the following Churches: First Presbyterian Church, Dubuque; Federated Church at Lost Nation; Methodist Church at Maquoketa; Presbyterian Church at Zwingle; Church in Albany and Howard, Illinois, and Charlotte and Delmar, Iowa.

Every Sunday afternoon a mixed group is sent to the Mount Pleasant Orphanage to tell Bible stories to the children. One Sunday in each month a service is held at Sunny Crest Sanitorium, and every Tuesday evening a Gospel Team is sent to the City Missions. These regular assignments, together with other opportunities for service, make the Gospel Team a very profitable organization.

Debate

The debaters of the University of Dubuque squad for the 1938-39 forensic season based their year's activities around the pro and con argument of the official question: "Resolved, that the United States should cease to use public funds for the purpose of stimulating business."

At the beginning of the season quite a number of interested people, some being former members of the squad and others high school debaters, reported to Professor Eyssen, the new debate coach. The first few months were spent gathering material and preparing cases for intrasquad debating.

Active debating for the Iowa Lambda chapter of Pi Kappa Delta began in December with the Round Robin Tournament which is held here annually.

The next few months' activities included short trips to neighboring colleges and a number of intercollegiate debates here. The colleges debated during this time included Platteville State Teachers, Wartburg, Cedar Falls State Teachers, and Luther.

In February, two teams represented the University at the sectional tournament in St. Paul. The season closed the latter part of March when University debaters again participated in the State Pi Kappa Delta contest in Cedar Rapids. They were also represented in the oratorical and extempore divisions of this contest.

The officers of Pi Kappa Delta, National Honorary Forensic Fraternity, for the past season were: Harold Nagel, president; Andres Andresen, vice president; and Thomas Megahey, secretary-treasurer. The other active member was Dorothy Banks. Students now eligible for membership include Robert Collier, Robert Allen, Albert Scheele, Marguerite Walsh and Garland Walters.

Zeta Sigma Pi

Epsilon chapter of Zeta Sigma Pi began its fourth year on the campus of the University of Dubuque under the leadership of Vernon Walthoff, president; Elinor Rodden, vice-president; Jane Groom, secretary; Earl Bankson, corresponding secretary; and Helen Baumgartner, treasurer.

This organization was founded at Wilmington College, for the benefit of the small colleges of the United States. Because it is an honorary national fraternity, entrance requirements are high; these include a "B" average in all college work, ten hours of college credit in the field of Social Science, and a scholarly paper to be sent to the national office. The main purpose of this national fraternity is to unite honorary students interested in Social Science into one large group with investigation, discussion and action as their watchwords.

Several candle-light initiations were held throughout the year: the first one in November, at which time Dr. William J. Petersen, author and professor of history at the University of Iowa, was initiated as Epsilon's first honorary member, the second in January, at which time Miss Emma Trenk and Fred Abben were initiated, and the third was held during the month of April. The eligible list included thirteen students.

A successful project was the movie, "From Tsar to Lenin," a seven reel educational film, which was presented on March 9 for two showings. The profit realized was used for the KEY page for the fraternity. The first social event was the tea given by Professor and Mrs. H. C. Fox in honor of Dr. Petersen, who discussed the compiling of material for his book, "Steamboating on the Upper Mississippi." The second was a banquet after the February initiation: in an after-dinner speech Prof. Fox, advisor of the group, discussed the aims of the organization. The third social event was a cake-walk held in Peters Commons in April, the profit from which was used to purchase a fraternity flag for the Social Science laboratory.

A Cappella Choir

The sensational successes of past years have spurred the choir on to still better achievement in this current season. It has been acclaimed by capable critics as one of the greatest a cappella choirs in the country. From over 100 applicants with which to work, Professor Noel J. Logan, has produced an 8-part sixty-voice chorus which sings without accompaniment, yet loses nothing of that unity and blend of voices necessary to choral technique.

The choir stands on its own merits: musical excellence, spiritual insight, and the high ideal of interpreting great music. Many elements involved in choral technique which are unnoticed by the audience, are employed to prove that "art begins where technique leaves off."

The works of Praetorius, Palestrina, Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, and Mendelssohn, as well as modern Russian and American composers are used by the choir. Critics have commended the choir on its humming renditions of vocal arrangements, which demonstrate that the Russian vocal ensemble is not unique in its ability to imitate stringed instruments to an astonishing degree.

Robed in black gowns with surplices of original design, the choir makes a striking and impressive appearance. Tone quality and sensitiveness of shading combine with effective dynamics, accuracy of pitch and blend of voices to call from the audience a spontaneous response of pleasure and appreciation.

For the first time a choir council was elected by the members, to help in the work of the choir. The purpose of this council is to inspire and create, wherever necessary, the proper loyalty to all choir activities, and to promote and support improvements in the choir organization. Members include Frederick Abben, president; J. Edward Dirks, vice-president; Muriel Putnam, secretary-treasurer; Ethel Swartwood and Floyd Rundle, advisory representatives.

This year special recognition was given to six students, who in accordance with the council, were the seniors who had given long and faithful service to the organization. The award given was a golden lyre pin with an eighth note guard, which was designed especially for the University choir by the choir council. Students meriting these pins were Fred Abben, Ethel Swartwood, Wilton Sinning, Mr. and Mrs. Tabe Loats and Mildred Board.

The annual tour was made in the Spring, from March seventeenth to April second, 1939. Sixty members, under the leadership of Professor Logan, made the two weeks' trip. Sacred music was sung in twenty churches and nine high schools and colleges. The trip covered churches and schools in Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota.

Band

The enrollment in the band activities exceeded that of any other year in the history of the University. Fifty-six members provided a well-balanced instrumentation under the capable direction of Ferdinand Di Tella.

For the first time in 19 years the band was fully uniformed. After a comprehensive drive among the students and friends of the University, with the help of the administration, uniforms were purchased in time for the Homecoming game appearance. Under the direction of Russell Kieseles, drum major, the band presented a series of maneuvers between the halves.

Music was provided for all basketball and football games, pep meetings and other extra curricular activities. One trip was taken with the football squad to the Upper Iowa University. Two small groups organized from the band personnel made appearances in college and civic affairs: the concert trio, composed of Milton Mussehl, Larry Palmer, and Sargent Wright; and the trombone quartette, consisting of Oliver Brandt, Geo. Jansen, Warren Rundle, and Nevin Lyerly.

In December, the eighth annual concert was given in Peters Commons; a program of familiar numbers, ranging from standard overtures to well-known marches, modern novelties, and special seasonal selections, was well presented and equally well received.

As a finale to one of the most successful band seasons on the University campus, the band presented its outdoor concert on the steps of Steffens Hall on Sunday, May 28.

Officers of the band are: Student conductor and manager, Floyd Rundle; librarians, Wilhelmine Franzenberg and Jeannette Lock; property man, Ray Stumbaugh; drum major, Russell Kieseles; basketball directors, Floyd Rundle, Milton Mussehl, and Miller McCluskey.

Orchestra

As in former years, three orchestras were used in the instrumental department; the symphony of 65 members, the concert orchestra of 26, the salon group of 15.

Through its successes of former years, the symphony orchestra has earned and maintained an enviable reputation throughout Dubuqueland. In its eighth annual concert of March 2, the orchestra featured the popular Symphony No. Six in B Minor. (Pathetique by Tschaikowsky.) The program included works of Thomas, Strauss, Moussoursky, and Grieg. Karol Hok, violinist, was the featured soloist. With a complete instrumentation, a perfect balance between choirs, and the sincere and artistic interpretation of the director, Ferdinand Di Tella, the symphony orchestra inspired and thrilled a capacity audience of 600 people.

The concert orchestra served as a radio orchestra, while the salon group was presented at college, church, and civic affairs.

Outstanding players were given recognition by appointment to the string quartette. Members were Karol Hok, first violin; Ruth Bauman, second violin; Mardelle Kleih, viola; Mary Katherine French, cello. A trio directed by Ruth Bauman provided music for teas and other social functions.

The orchestra made its final appearance of the year at the convocation with a short concert preceding the address.

Alumni Association

It has always been the purpose of the Alumni Association to stimulate and renew the interest of former students in the activities of their school. And so today we find the Alumni of the University of Dubuque still revering the past, honoring the present and helping to build the future.

Meetings are held annually during Commencement Week. At 6:00 P. M. on June 2, 1938, the classes of 1897, '98, '99, 1900, '16, '17, '18, '19, '35, '36, and '37 held their reunion dinner in Peters Commons. That was followed at 7:30 P. M. by the Alumni Oratorical Contest. Eight undergraduate students competed for honors in this event. Homer Ogle took first prize for the second consecutive year. Second and third prizes went to Orrin Moore and Romo Russo respectively.

The Annual Alumni Meeting was held in Severance Parlors at 9:00 that same evening. Urban Harken was again elected president and John Ludemann, vice-president. The resignation of Miss Margaret Williams was accepted with regret and Mrs. Asthore Lillie was elected secretary-treasurer. Mr. D. D. Knight, publicity director of the University of Dubuque and secretary of the Alumni Living Endowment Plan Committee, read a detailed report concerning the progress of the Living Endowment Plan. His report was gratifying, yet we hope to make it more than that from year to year.

Our own Vice-President, Rev. John A. Ludemann, presided at the Alumni chapel service on Friday morning, June 3. The Rev. Edwin A. Arends was the speaker, Rev. Benjamin Swede, soloist, and Mr. Moicheo Cruz read the Scripture and led us in prayer.

At the Alumni dinner the activities of the Association, as a group meeting here on the campus, were enriched, but the influence of the Alumni has been felt during the entire year through their contribution, sincere work, and loyalty. The future of our University depends upon the continued interest and support of the Alumni.

House Councils

The Severance and Steffens House Councils are self governing bodies of the women's and men's dormitories. The members are chosen by the residents to represent the groups in student-faculty relations, to organize the social activities, to make such rules as are necessary for the convenience of all the students, and to orient the freshmen each year. Severance officers: Mildred Board, president; Marian Swalve, vice-president; Velda Hacker, secretary - treasurer; Irene Haas, social chairman. Steffens officers: Vernon Walthoff, president; Laurence Stafford, secretary-treasurer. Advisers: Mrs. Donald Eysen, Mr. William Schultz.

D Club

As in past years, the D Club remains one of the most active clubs on the campus, having a membership of 25 major "D" winners, four honorary advisers and a group of active alumni. It is necessary for membership to earn a major "D" in either football, basketball, track or tennis, and to have attained sophomore standing.

The University of Dubuque "D" Club activities are important to the welfare of the school. For the second time it sponsored the Homecoming dance, one of the highlights of the school year, and presented all students and the Blue and White Club with football and basketball schedules. This winter the "D" Club sponsored another athletic carnival for the National Infantile Paralysis Fund, a charitable cause, and turned all proceeds over to this cause. The "D" Club members ushered at all athletic events, gave gold footballs to deserving athletes and presented the various captains of the major sports with "D" blankets. The "D" Club at the end of each sport season puts on a banquet to honor its athletes.

The "D" Club's three trophies, which are presented to the athletes who are outstanding in various lines, are given immediately following the track season. Winners of 1937-38 were Thea Gibbs, as the Senior graduate who has been most outstanding in athletics during his college career; Bill Watters, who was presented with the cup for the athlete with the best scholastic record; and Bob Stoneburner, who was awarded the Freshman trophy as the outstanding contributor of his class.

On April 14, the "D" Club promoted their annual all school dance. Music was furnished by Boyd Reter and his all-University orchestra. Miss Helen Humke, of Dubuque, was chosen by the lettermen to be the Sports Queen of the University, and with Donald Emery, led the grand march.

The officers for the year are: Donald Emery, president; Herbert Borchers, vice-president; Nate Dodge, treasurer and secretary; William Watters, corresponding secretary; and Robert Stoneburner, athletic manager.

International Relations Club

The International Relations Club, founded in 1936 under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment Fund for International Peace, is completing its third year on the campus of the University of Dubuque. Meetings on alternate Mondays have offered a varied program: once our Japanese student, Fukuko Sasaki, told about the schools in Japan; again, Professor Van Eaton spoke on "Reciprocal Trade Agreements"; a penetrating talk on the Church in Germany was given by Dr. Emil Holtzhauser. The club furnished a Chapel program, the president, Carl Leuthold, introducing Professor Kuhn, who spoke on Czecho-Slovakia.

A talk given by Miss Elsa Schroeder on Brazil, and illustrated by slides, was the feature of one of the fall meetings. Miss Schroeder had spent the previous summer with her brother, Dr. Donald Schroeder, a graduate of the University of Dubuque, who is now a missionary in Brazil.

One high light of the year's activities was the banquet in Peters Commons, tendered by the University to the members of the Club on October eleventh. Covers were laid for thirty: the guest speaker was Dr. Charles Arthur Carriel, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Dubuque. Dr. Carriel, once a resident of Brazil, presented a colorful contrast between the ideas and customs of Brazil and those of the United States, explaining it on a basis of the difference between the motives for colonization and the racial characteristics of the early settlers in the two Americas.

A second complimentary banquet was tendered the Club by the University on April 25, at which time the speaker was Mr. Harry C. Slichter, managing editor of the Telegraph-Herald. His talk centered around the timely topic of the disturbed condition of European affairs. A round-table discussion followed, in which most of the thirty guests present took an active part. The unsettled state of affairs abroad and the consequent uneasiness felt in America have lent a new impetus to the interest manifested in international relations as a whole, which has resulted in an enlarged membership for the local club.

At the final meeting the last week in May, new officers are elected, and a tentative program of study for the coming year is discussed.

The Club continues to enjoy the "Fortnightly Summary of Events" and the score of timely books sent to it gratuitously by the Carnegie Fund each year. The following officers have been active in the service of the Club during the year 1938-39:

President.....Carl Leuthold
Vice-President.....Thomas Megahey
Secretary.....Andres Andresen
Treasurer.....Laurence Chamberlin

Faculty Club

The Faculty Club makes a significant contribution to the intellectual and social welfare of the members of the faculty and their wives.

Newcomers find in these informal meetings an opportunity to become acquainted with their fellow-workers and to feel the common intellectual pulse and spiritual tone of the University leaders. Old members find stimulation in the discovery of talents and unsuspected depths in the personalities of their co-workers and in the interchange of ideas. The genuine warmth of "family" feeling increases as the years go by. The Faculty Club in no small way thus binds the faculty together.

The first and last of the monthly meetings are traditionally picnic affairs. Other meetings for the current year were devoted to the following programs:

The Reading Skill of Our Students and What We Can Do to Improve It. Illustrated lecture, by Dean Wight.

Recent Developments in Textiles. Illustrated lecture, by Professor Blanche Bock.

The Philosophy of Ecclesiastes. Lecture by Professor Jacob Bajema.

Color and Polarized Light. Illustrated lecture, by Professor R. G. Wilson.

Readings, by Mrs. Donald Eyssen.

Officers for the year 1938-39 were:
President.....Dr. W. B. Zuker
Vice-President.....Robert G. Wilson
Secretary and Treasurer..Florence Mulheim

Facultette

Facultette, one of the oldest groups on our campus, was reorganized in 1921, and since that time has held an important place in the school life. The membership is made up of women members of the University faculty, wives of the men on the faculty, and women members of the University office staff. Several new members have been welcomed this year.

Promotion of friendly fellowship among its members, and helpfulness in campus activities are the objectives of this group. Meetings are held on the second Thursday of each school month. During the present year, Facultette has met in the homes of the various members, with a committee appointed to provide entertainment for the afternoon. The meetings have been very enjoyable. The Christmas party is always especially looked forward to with its exchange of gifts and jolly good time.

This year Facultette provided new couch covers for one of the parlors in Severance Hall, and with the assistance of the Y. W. C. A., purchased a silver coffee service for use at the various functions on the University campus. They decorated the dining room and tables for the annual Washington's Birthday Dinner sponsored by the Student Affairs Committee, and arranged an appropriate program following the dinner.

Facultette always stands ready to assist in any project for the advancement of the school and the happiness of the student body.

The Cue

Activity of the Cue, official organ of the student body, once again centered around the aims of its platform. Dedicated to "present a living record of student life at the University; to encourage and to co-ordinate the various efforts aimed at improving and adding greater meaning to that life; and to provide a laboratory training in practical journalism," the Cue tried faithfully to express with each issue the traditional spirit of University progress.

Under the leadership of Ethel Harris, editor-in-chief, papers were put out under a policy initiated in 1937 by Sigmund Fritschel. With this system, a bi-weekly full tabloid was supplemented by alternate issues of the Cue Flash, a single-page spot-news edition, solely for campus use.

The following students comprised the editorial staff: Russell Kiesele, associate editor; Albert Ney, sports editor; Helen Austin, society editor; Thomas Megahey, Seminary editor; Calvin Ukena, religious editor; Floyd Rundle, music editor; Louise Eisenschmidt, organization editor; and Robert Allen, department editor. Besides these students with special assignments, a group of reporters and staff writers contributed much to the Cue's success.

The financial end of the paper was ably handled for the year by Howard Strong, business manager. Under him on the business staff were Gordon Grotjohn and Frederick Abben, advertising managers; Marjorie Lewis, circulation manager; and several solicitors. Dean Edward Wight acted as faculty adviser and Dr. William B. Zuker served as representative of the Faculty Committee on Publications.

Blue and White Club

The Blue and White Club was organized in September of 1937. The first meeting of the club was held in Peters Commons on Monday evening, September 20, at 7:30 o'clock, and was attended by: Dr. Donovan F. Ward, Dr. Dale D. Welch, Mr. P. F. Fitzke, Mr. W. H. Collings, Mr. Lewis Egelhof, Mr. Henry Bregman, Mr. H. C. Fox, Dr. V. B. Vanderloo, Mr. E. B. Zeller, Mr. Elmer Bradley, Mr. Duane Wilson, Mr. Chris Serup, and Mr. D. D. Knight.

The idea of forming such a club came from Coach Bob Fitzke, who, at a Stag Fan's Luncheon at which he and the football squad were introduced, recommended the idea. Dr. Donovan F. Ward, alumnus of the University of Dubuque, seized upon the idea, called the September 20 meeting, and from that meeting there came a constitution and by-laws for the Blue and White Club of the University of Dubuque.

Dues for membership in the club were then and are now, $5.00 per year, which give the members a card of admission to all athletic home games and contests of the University, and also admission to all meetings of the Blue and White Club.

The club meets on the third Tuesday evening of each month at 8:00 o'clock in Peters Commons. The present officers of the club are Henry Bregman, president; O. F. Christofferson, first vice-president;

Eugene Loetscher, second vice-president; D. D. Knight, secretary; and W. B. Zuker, treasurer.

The programs for these club meetings are varied, with sports events being the most popular numbers, although the musical organizations and individual musicians come in for their full share of places on the club program. Today the club has a total membership of one hundred and ten men of Dubuque.

This is the largest and most effective instrument for strengthening the hands of the University's Athletic Committee, and for interesting the public in the school's athletic program that has been developed. The great virtue in the organization is the fact that it sprang from the interest and the work of Dubuque men who were not on the University faculty or staff, and in most cases not affiliated with the University's Board of Directors or other official committees. The club seems to fill a long-felt need, and gives every indication of healthy growth, with prospects next year of doubling its membership.

The club has two honorary life members: the first elected to such membership was John G. Chalmers, in recognition of his years of fine service to the school as coach; and the second, Dr. Donovan F. Ward, for his work in starting and organizing the club.

Alpha Psi Omega

Delta Zeta Chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic fraternity, reorganized on this campus in May, 1937, through the efforts of Rosemary Loetscher Kintzinger, speech instructor, and fourteen members of the cast of "New Fires," has now completed its second year. The 1938-39 officers, installed at the June breakfast in Eagle Point Park, were Jane Nowlin, president; Margery Deale, vice-president; Fletcher Condit, secretary-treasurer; and John Campbell, historian-reporter.

This year's activities, under the supervision of Professor Donald C. Eyssen, of the department of speech, began with the project of furnishing a club-room just off the new Little Theater auditorium in Peters' Commons. Meetings on alternate Wednesdays, occasionally with refreshments, have taken place regularly. Members of the fraternity have co-operated with the Dramatics Department in both cast and production work on the plays, and also in contributions to the story hour which the University features in its radio programs.

On February eleventh, Alpha Psi Omega presented its annual dancing party, the "Varsity Revue," to which a floorshow of specialties was contributed by the social Greek-letter organizations on the campus.

When Sinclair Lewis accompanied his play, "Angela Is Twenty-two," to Dubuque late in January, Alpha Psi Omega entertained the cast and the students of the University with a formal tea in Severance parlors. After the tea many of the members of Alpha Psi Omega attended both Mr. Lewis' radio broadcast and the play.

Four all-school plays and a series of one-act plays directed by members of the play production classes have made many students eligible to Alpha Psi Omega. Four of these, Evangeline Stoneburner, Margaret Miller, Helen Baumgartner, and John Chesney, were initiated on February fifteenth. The ceremony was followed by an informal tea in the chapter room.

Production

The dramatics department has been active during 1938-39 under Donald C. Eyssen, the speech and dramatics coach, who came to Dubuque from the Upper Iowa University faculty. He received his bachelor of arts and his master of arts degree from Ohio Wesleyan University, where he majored in speech and dramatics. For the past two summers he served as technical director of the Little Theater at Bay-view, Michigan.

Mr. Eyssen modeled a little theater in the basement of Peters Commons, the work being rushed so that it would be ready for the Homecoming festivities. There is an adequate stage, a small auditorium which seats two hundred people, a workshop behind the stage, a make-up room, a wardrobe, and a lounge to the auditorium. The theater has been used for both presentations and laboratory work.

The first play, "Ten Nights in a Barroom," was staged during Homecoming Week. The play, a revival of the venerable temperance melodrama, presented a rigid test of character interpretation.

"The Show-Off," a comedy in three acts, was given in January. This play, one of the best comedies ever written by an American, is a transcript of life, and centers around a braggart, Audrey Piper.

During February the dramatic production class presented a series of one-act plays, not open to the public, but given before an audience of those interested in dramatics. Each student selected his own play and cast, planning a stage set and directing the production. The purpose of these plays is to apply theories of production studied during the semester, and to give those who have not participated in the all-school plays a chance to display their abilities.

"Journey's End" was the next dramatic offering. This three-act play, perhaps the greatest of all modern English war dramas, is the story of the effect of war on a group of British officers during the great conflict.

The fourth all-school play, presented in May, was "The Torch Bearers." In summing up the past year of dramatic activity, one must appreciate its phenomenal growth and development. Its broadening influence has done much to make the University a center of culture. Much credit is due Professor Eyssen for the task he has accomplished. Starting without even a stage, he was able to produce a fine play for Homecoming. This year marks a revival in the field of drama in the University. Students in the dramatics department have been producing one-act plays of their own with complete charge. The Little Theatre stands as a symbol of progress and achievement in this field of culture.

GAMMA ACTIVITIES

Delhi was the destination of the Gamma caravan for the 1938 Flunk Week — and what a flunk week it was! There were eighteen of us in two cottages, between the two, Asthore and Sara were constantly swinging back and forth like twin pendulums.

Remember: everybody borrowing the Thirteens' boats — Frannie and Violet sunning themselves on the landing — Ann and Ammie dancing to the eternal radio — Hilda and Jeannette swimming in the frigid lake — Lois and Arlene B. hiking miles for mail and milk — Rosamond and Evange off picnicking — all of us eating endlessly?

Remember: Dot T. and Arline D. driving up on Sunday — Marilyn wrestling with the stubborn stove — "Puff" baking a ham all day — the quick "come-and-get-it" rushes — the hard-working kitchen police?

Remember: Rattlesnakes — sunsets — rain — food — cold nights — Lorraine and Georgia sharing blankets? And the night we lost our way back from the marshmallow roast — muddy fields — slippery ditches — barbed-wire fences — where IS the Gamma camp? But the Delta party was worth it — Deltas, Thirteens and Gammas all singing 'round one gorgeous campfire!

We relived all this at our Summer Reunion in Eagle Point Park. There, too, we made plans for the coming rush season, which materialized in a dainty Japanese tea and a rollicking ship-wreck party, topped off with an Arctic expedition for the girls who had expressed a preference for Gamma. At the Founders' Day supper on October 15 the new girls learned the history and aims of the sorority from the lips of its founders.

Pledge duties all fall ended in Hell-week and informal initiation. At the Pledges' Christmas Party, we all played games, popped corn, and consumed quantities of plum pudding and spiced cider. In February the chapter entertained with a date-party, which centered around the idea of "Sweet-hearts in Swingtime."

Formal initiation of eight active and two honorary members, Mrs. Anson Van Eaton and Miss Maurine Happ, marked the high point of an auspicious year during which we had once again been the fortunate winners of the All-School Scholarship Cup. Gamma Phi Delta, founded October fifteenth, 1936, and now completing its third year on the campus, looks forward to many more good years.

DELTA ACTIVITIES

Talent scouts in search of new faces — a Star party opens Delta Phi Sigma's gay season in real Hollywood style — opening night — Coconut Grove — celebrities —

Formal Preference Party — dubonnet and silver — chrysanthemums, lighted tapers — Bingo —

Some fun — hell week — Delta tradition pulls out the long flannels and tight lacings — 'nuff said —

Violins, candlelight, voices singing the Delta Phi song — solemnness that brings a lump into the throat — formal initiation climaxes weeks of rushing and irksome pledge duties — warm hand clasps of girls whose friendships are symbolized by the word "sorority" — new girls join the Delta ranks — Time marches on —

To the night when Deltas and their dates earn diplomas in musical knowledge at the Delta Swing School — dancing to the country's leading orchestras — all of them — through the courtesy of an electric phonograph — gobs of fun —

At last — what we've been waiting for — Flunk Week — ushered in to the tune of a mosquito's buzz, and the dripping of canoe paddles — crowds arrive at Delhi — gasp at the glory of the lake — proceed to unpack tooth brushes, cameras without films, hair nets, ski suits, tennis shorts, chocolate fudge squares, chewing gum, sunburn lotion, and bathing suits — scramble for beds — scramble for boats — scramble for chocolate fudge.

Highlights we won't forget — boating on Lake Delhi at night, when there are as many stars in the dark water as there are in the sky — baked ham for Sunday dinner — Jeanne and Margie harmonizing on "Oh Tell Me Why" — Mary finding time to take a boat ride with Bill — toasting peanut butter sandwiches around a fire at midnight — Abbie hanging her feet over the back of the boat and getting sunburned knees — sleeping — Miss Aitchison taking her third cup of coffee — eating — Baummy spreading sunburn lotion on too late — writing a Delta Sweetheart Song and appreciating it ten times as much as a sound minded music critic possibly could — Laura finding a note written with her prize lipstick — singing everything ever written around a half mile bonfire built by the Thirteens — Mrs. George appreciating the flowers someone picked at five o'clock for the breakfast table — laughing — listening to Marion's radio all night — freezing alternately with baking — Marge putting on make-up in the morning — Millie rowing (?) a boat — Laurie and Fletch rowing down to the Gamma camp — no one wanting to wash dishes — no one wanting to wash her face in cold water — no one wanting to go home — So ends another Flunk Week.

ZETA ACTIVITIES

The Zetas, off again to Frentress Lake for a perfect weekend of canoeing, eating, and sun-burning, still talk about the cold nights, the marvelous chicken that Sunday noon, the cots that collapsed regularly, the strains of "The Blues" drifting across the lake, and Dot sitting on the ash can in a perfect imitation of Dopey.

Then, in the summer, came that slumber party where everyone "slept" on the floor and talked 'til six the next morning. The steak fry just before school proved the remarkable ability of Dot and Helen in making a roaring fire with wood somewhat on the damp side.

The rush season was right on top of us almost before we caught our breath, with the first party, an English tea, where we had crumpets and blueberry muffins. We sat before the fireplace on that rainy day, listening to Mrs. Wight's songs. The Zeta Phi Female Seminary occupied the rush-ees at the next party with registration, classes, and all the routine of a young ladies' seminary.

Soon came the anxious moments before the announcement of preferences, and it was then that the Zetas decided that thirteen was their lucky number, and they celebrated at a Mexican fiesta preference party at the Julien.

Next came a week of trial for the new members — "Heil Week," with the agony of wearing house-coats, no make-up, curlers, and of doing the Lambeth Walk under the rotunda in outlandish costumes.

The Zeta Phi Treasure hunt, where we hunted nursery rhymed clues to a hidden treasure, was followed by the "Date-Skate," at which the old saying, "Pride goeth before a fall" was effectively proved.

The pledges' Christmas party and then the formal initiation — the Zeta Phi Ballet, saw thirteen new fullfledged actives, now able to appreciate the words of the pledge song, "But I'm not gonna cry, 'cause I'll get even bye an' bye."

The Intersorority Dance and Spring Parties, followed up by Flunk Week all over again. We had a swell time this year, good enough to want to live it once more. That's what we'll do next year.

LAMBDA ACTIVITIES

The good ship LTD set sail in September for another successful year on the calm and untroubled waters of the campus. This sailing was a most auspicious one as it marked the twentieth anniversary of the first launching of the sorority. For twenty years this sorority has fostered the true expression of friendship and sisterhood, and urged its members on to high scholastic achievement.

The year was opened by the Inter-Sorority Reception to welcome the new girls to the campus. This was followed by a series of three rush parties: a Southern tea, a buffet supper, and the formal preference dinner and theater party. Our numbers were augmented by the pledging of seven new girls who came through their period of pledgeship with banners high. This pledgeship was brought to a close by "Hell Week" during which time the girls appeared as babies, complete with bibs, bottles, and rattles; and in gunny sack gowns and sweat shirts with their hair in rags and bedecked with much fancy jewelry. An informal initiation in the usual "marked" fashion, and the formal "Rose Ceremony" of initiation ushered these seven girls into active membership.

Events of the year, in addition to the rushing parties, included a Christmas party, at which the honorary members were guests of honor, date parties, picnics, and monthly get-togethers. One of the highlights of the year was the Founders' Day Tea, held in celebration of the 20th birthday of the sorority.

No sorority year is complete without a recital of "Flunk Week." The Lambdas held theirs at Anamosa, which outing included a weekend free from study or worries of school, spent in sunbathing (ask the one who suffered from over-exposure), tennis, golfing, hiking, skating, eating, sleeping (?), trips to town, and a trip through the state penitentiary. Mrs. Dewey and Mrs. Martin did their best to maintain the discipline of the girls. Taken together, sunburn, rain, blisters, mosquitos, hilarious fun, and glorious recreation, the girls retain many fond memories of those blissful days at Anamosa.

PHI O ACTIVITIES

Ever since its founding in 1926, the Phi Omicron fraternity has maintained its ideal—Brotherhood. From the beginning of its history, this keynote has been uplifted and idealized. This year, as in previous years, the value of such a standard has been fully realized, affording the richest returns possible from fraternity life.

Throughout the cycle of University life this year, Phi Omicron has contributed to the activities of the school. Again in 1938, as for several years previous, the fraternity won the scholarship cup, awarded annually to the fraternity with the highest scholastic average. Individually, our members contribute to nearly every phase of school activity, including music, dramatics, journalism, athletics, and a variety of interests.

Memories of the 1938 Flunk Week will never be forgotten — moonlight over Frentress Lake — hours spent at the Zeta camp — that first night it was so wet, from the rain — lanterns on the shore — bonfire on the island — lusty appetites at the table — exploring in the canoes — all night vigils — the chaperones — kitchen duty — the motorboat — the “steadies” hurrying off up the shore — the rest of us following — the cycles had trouble staying on two wheels one night — trips to town for the best of reasons — fights over whose covers to use — yours or none — the easy trip downstream — the long pull back — closing a delightful holiday.

The Phi Omicron fraternity opened the school year with an all-school party dance in Peters Commons, with a five piece orchestra. Several outing and bowling parties were given in the fall, climaxed by a formal dance at the Hotel Julien. Other social events in our fraternity year include Founder's Day banquet, the Spring Formal, the summer steak fry, and many more informal affairs.

CHI EP ACTIVITIES

The Chi Epsilon Phi Fraternity was organized early in the year 1937. President Welch and Rev. S. S. George realized the need of an organization which included all the young men going into full time Christian service. Out of their guiding leadership evolved an organization which has been enthusiastically supported by the pre-theological students. Each year brings young men to our campus from many states, who find in this fraternity a stabilizing influence of Christian fellowship.

The fraternity attempts to provide a program of spiritual and social enrichment which will be of lasting significance to its members.

Under the leadership of one of our advisers, Professor Jacob Bajema, a thorough study of the Shorter Catechism has been a part of our program. In accord with this study, the Oxford Conference and Convent Religious events have been a valuable addition to our program.

At the beginning of this school year, our third annual banquet was held in Peters Commons. Here we were privileged to hear toasts by President Welch and Rev. C. Vin White. Immediately following the banquet an impressive candlelight service was held in the Van Vliet Chapel to receive the ten incoming members. At this service Professor Bajema delivered a challenging message on the essence of Christianity, and Rev. Mr. George spoke on the purpose and aims of the organization.

The Flunk Week was spent at Wisconsin Lake, near Menimoc, Wis. This proved to be of great enjoyment to the brothers present. The time was spent in boating, swimming, fishing, games, and hikes. Both those present and those not able to attend Flunk Week last year are looking forward to making the 130 mile trip to this beautiful spot again next year.

The officers for the current year are: Denley Ganfield, president; William Gold, vice president; Robert Spencer, treasurer.

Such an organization as this is a pioneer in the American colleges. Many schools are eagerly looking forward to following our success in Christian fellowship.

THIRTEEN CLUB ACTIVITIES

October, 1937, found the Thirteen Club "cats" with ten new brothers, after the rushing season was over. Under the guidance of our president, Chuck Miller, we enjoyed a full schedule of fraternity life. Parties, banquets, and dances were given through the winter, and with the coming Spring, everyone looked forward to a good Flunk Week outing.

Cars loaded down to the gunwales with huge piles of camping equipment, we rolled out to Delhi. No sooner were we settled, than three of the boys got into mischief. Fred Hanse, Joe Ribble, and Vernon Hassebrock were escorted to town by the game warden for shooting across the river. A little later some fast talking saved the day for our honorable "prexy," for fishing in posted waters. We really gave the game wardens a workout.

Most appreciated brother among us was Fay Beringer, who proved himself to be a first class chef. We ate, and ate, and still came back for more — a good recommendation for any cook.

"Fat Stuff" Ujlaky had his share of troubles. Cold water poured on him while he slumbered, and as if that weren't enough, a good ducking in the lake.

Extra curricular activities included trips up and down the river to the Gamma and Delta camps. On the last night the Deltas threw a fine marshmallow roast for both the Gammas and Thirteens. It was a lovely way to end a perfect week-end outing.

Several of our members did not return to the University this year, but we have carried out our fraternity schedule with great success. This year's activities have proven to be as fine as last year's for the Thirteen Club. The comradeship we have experienced as fraternity men has been an outstanding feature of our college life.

On April twentieth, nineteen hundred and twenty-nine, Mu Sigma Beta became the fourth social fraternity on the University of Dubuque campus. At that time, permission was given to Robert Creswick, Denes Balo, Edward Diehl, Morris Hacker, William Holzhauer, Earl Kryder, Donald Smith, Robert Stoneburner, and Paul Westcott to become charter members of the new fraternity. Professor Jacob Bajema joined the group as Faculty Adviser. The fraternity immediately entered into the social life of the Spring season, with an initiation banquet, Spring Formal Dance, and Flunk Week.

Mu Sigma Beta stresses the finest quality of fraternity life: co-operation, both between its members, and with the University. The fraternity will enter actively into the 1939-1940 rushing season, and engage fully in the social activities. It is the purpose of the founders to create a lasting organization that will bring true fraternity spirit to its brotherhood.

Coach Fitzke opened practice for the 1938 football season with a squad of thirty-three men. As assistant coach the team was fortunate in having William Schultz, a former star of Iowa State Teachers. Eight lettermen returned this year, including Don Threlkeld, Bill Watters, and Don Emery, seniors; Bucky Rogers and Franny Eberhart, juniors; Gene Werkheiser, Art Blaha, and Nate Dodge, sophomores. In addition to some fine freshman material, the team was augmented by the appearance of three ineligible men from last year's squad, Romo Russo, Bob Besch, and the speedy halfback, Don Wilson. Practice was short, but Coaches Fitzke and Schultz sent a fairly well organized team into the first game. Rapidly developing both defensive and offensive power, the Spartans soon became a real threat in the Iowa Conference. Dubuque finished in third place with a record of four victories and one defeat.

The Spartans opened the season at the Municipal Athletic field in a 7 to 7 tie with a strong Stevens Point team, which was generally conceded to be out of Dubuque's class. Throughout the first quarter both teams moved cautiously, but the break came late in the second quarter, when Don Threlkeld recovered a Teachers' fumble on the Dubuque 38 yard line. With only three minutes left to go in the first half, quarterback Bob Schiers called a series of deceptive plays that put over a touchdown. The famous Spartan double reverse sent Nate Dodge over the Stevens Point goal, after Blaha and Wilson had advanced the ball to the 16 yard line. A pass from Schiers to Emery was good for the extra point. The second half found Stevens Point unstoppable. Jim McGuire led the Teachers in a great passing and running attack that finally put him over from the nine yard line. Throughout the game the fine offensive work of Wilson and the hard tackling of Blaha stood out, while the line gave a surprising performance for a first game.

Illinois Normal, of Carbondale, Illinois, was the highly touted opponent of the Spartans on the following Saturday at Kane Heights athletic field. Dubuque took an early lead when Captain Rogers intercepted a Normal pass on their 40 yard line, ran it to the 15, where he lateralled to Besch, who took it to the 5 yard line. Three plays later Blaha drove over guard for the touchdown. In the second quarter Blaha and Werkheiser blocked and recovered a Normal punt on the 10 yard line. Blaha passed to Wilson, who lateralled to Schiers for another touchdown. Floyd Covill, the Redbird star, led a passing attack that drove to the one yard line, where he cracked center to score. In the third quarter, Dubuque was hard pressed to stop a one-man drive by Covill, until an intercepted pass on the Normal 30 yard line by Schiers set the stage for the third Dubuque touchdown. A pass to Emery was good to the 12 yard stripe, and the double reverse put Dodge over. Wilson kicked the extra point. In the last quarter "Weenie" Wilson got away on a beautiful 55 yard touchdown punt return. The second Normal touchdown came when Hammond, a substitute lineman, intercepted Lozosky's pass, and ran it 50 yards to score. The final gun found Dubuque ahead 25 to 14.

The Spartans crushed Iowa Wesleyan at Mt. Pleasant, 33 to 12, in their first conference game of the season. Early in the game, "Sweetpea" McDonald recovered a Wesleyan fumble on their 32 yard line. Two plays later Wilson scored on a reverse and kicked the extra point. Wesleyan stormed back at this point with a 72 yard kickoff return by quarterback Ray Forbes. On the next play Fred Wehrle tossed a pass to his brother Everett to give Wesleyan its first score. In the second quarter Wilson scored two touchdowns, the first came on a pass by Blaha, who threw from the Wesleyan 16 yard line. A few minutes later "Weenie" took a punt on his own 20, and streaked 80 yards up the sidelines to give Dubuque a 20 to 6 lead. Blaha and Dodge scored touchdowns in the second half to put the game on ice. Late in the last quarter Wesleyan connected on a pass for six points.

In a night game at the Municipal Athletic Field, the Dubuque team, minus Wilson, fought a 6 to 6 tie with DeKalb Teachers. Throughout the game Blaha and Krahenbuhl tried to out-kick each other. Late in the first half the double reverse clicked for Dubuque's six points, but in the third quarter DeKalb turned on the steam. Davis, the Teachers' negro star, broke away on a 30 yard jaunt to the Dubuque six yard line, and three drives tied the score. The Spartan line deserves particular praise for its brilliant performance in stopping the powerful DeKalb offense.

Dubuque downed the Buena Vista Beavers 13 to 0 in a brilliant Homecoming victory. Don Wilson came back from the injured list to lead a first period drive. In a beautiful display of open field running he brought back a Beaver punt to their 12 yard mark, and on the next play swept around end to give the Spartans a 6 to 0 lead. However, Buena Vista held Dubuque in check until the third quarter, when big Vito Barzilowski intercepted a Beaver pass on their 30 yard line. Four plays later Wilson rifled a pass to Nate Dodge for a touchdown. "Weenie" made the kick good. In the last quarter a drive, led by LeRoy Zender, the powerful Buena Vista fullback, was stopped on the Spartan 25 yard line by the final gun. This thrilling victory set Dubuque University up as the team to watch in the Iowa Conference.

In the night game with Wartburg College at Waverly, a pouring rain kept the field completely under water in many places, and by the end of the first half the mud was practically impassable. In the first quarter a bad punt by Wartburg gave Dubuque possession on the Knights' 27 yard stripe. On the next play Wilson swept around right end for the first score. Blaha hit center for the extra point. A passing attack drove Wartburg back to their seven yard line, and Blaha smashed center for another touchdown. He repeated for the extra point. Wilson took a punt in the second period on his own 10 yard line, and behind the beautiful blocking of Eugene Werkheiser, streaked ninety yards through the mire to give the Spartans a 20 to 0 lead. The game was called at half time because of the condition of the gridiron.

Dubuque rallied strongly in the second half of the game with Parsons College at Fairfield, to beat the Wildcats 21 to 13. Manary, the Parsons left end, took the opening kickoff 95 yards through the entire Spartan team to score a touchdown. A beautiful pass from Klein to Miller gave the Wildcats a 13 to 0 lead. During the half the coaches worked desperately to instill fight and vigor into the discouraged team. Early in the third quarter a decision by the referees on a pass angered the entire Spartan team. From this point on they charged furiously, drove hard, and showed Parsons championship football. Two plays later Don Wilson snagged a punt on his own 27 yard line, and behind the beautiful interference of Blaha and Werkheiser, raced 73 yards to a touchdown. He also kicked the extra point. The first play of the third quarter, the dependable double reverse, sent Nate Dodge on a 33 yard jaunt to score. Wilson's placekick put Dubuque ahead for the first time. With only a few minutes left to play, "Weenie" Wilson intercepted a Wildcat pass and carried it 50 yards to the Parsons' 38 yard line. On the next play Art Blaha sliced off left tackle for the final touchdown. Wilson made his third perfect placekick of the game, to end the scoring.

The only defeat of the season was at the hands of Upper Iowa, in the final game at Fayette, by a score of 21-7. Upper Iowa opened strong; five completed passes out of five attempts set the stage for Spatcher to score from the 12 yard line. Dubuque tied the score at 7-7 early in the second quarter, when Blaha scored, after Wilson and Barzilowski had set the ball on the five yard stripe. Upper Iowa started rolling, and scored twice again on the bewildered Spartans. Their line held perfectly, and their backfield ball juggling had the Dubuque team completely baffled. Alderson, Tate, and Spatcher were the big Peacock threats. Artie Blaha lived up to his reputation as a defensive man, as he consistently plugged up holes in the Dubuque line. The loss of this game put Dubuque in third place, with a percentage of .800, finishing behind Luther and Upper Iowa.

We cannot close this resume of the 1938 season without paying tribute to the gallant boys who composed this successful team. Their achievement is a worthy tribute to coaches and players.

Back Row—Mgr. Rogers, Thoman, Peterson, Mgr. Besch.
Middle Row—Schwartz, Lupie, McDonald, Hayenga, Werkheiser.

Basketball

From "under dogs" to fourth place in the Iowa Conference was the record of the '38-'39 edition of the Spartans. For the first time in several years the Spartan percentage was above .500, actually .588, with ten victories and seven losses.

Only four lettermen from previous squads returned, two juniors, Capt. Mel McDonald and Bob Peterson, and two sophomores, "Futchy" Schwartz and John Buniak. There were many other good prospects reporting, however, among whom were Gene Werkheiser, Francis Lupie, Bill Reidel, John Lozosky and Jake Thoman.

The season opened in McCormick Gym against the Wartburg Knights. The Spartans found the going easy, and pounded out a 31 to 19 victory. Twelve men saw action, with Lupie and Peterson leading the scoring.

St. Ambrose, defending champion, was the next opponent. Dubuque held the score to a 15-15 tie at half time, but in the second half St. Ambrose rallied and took a lead the Spartans were never able to overcome. Still fighting, the boys suffered a 34-31 defeat by St. Ambrose.

At the hands of Central, the Spartans suffered the first of a series of losses by one and two points. Hard play enabled the Spartans to lead 19 to 18 at the rest period. From then on the lead changed hands frequently, with Central getting a field goal in the last thirty seconds to pull out a win 32 to 30. Riedel caged 13 points to lead both teams in the scoring.

On the following night at Oskaloosa, Penn rang up 26 points in the second half to down the Spartans 43 to 35. Peterson's nine points in the first half paced the Spartans to a one point margin at the half, 18 to 17, but in the second half the boys had trouble finding the hoop.

Iowa Wesleyan furnished the opposition in the third home game of the season on January 11. Overcoming an early Tiger lead, Dubuque found the hoop to carry a four point lead to the dressing room. In the second half the score went from 16-12 to 23-18 before the Spartan scoring bogged down and Wesleyan came to life. With four minutes left to play, the Tigers enjoyed a 33-29 lead, but had to hurry to stave off the Dubuque closing rush and win 37-33.

The Wartburg Knights were again Dubuque's victims, but they forced the Spartans into an overtime period to eke out the winning margin 33-31. Lupie added ten points to his total to keep him up among the Conference scoring aces.

Dubuque's third conference victory came against Penn in the return game in McCormick Gym. Holding a 17-10 lead at the half, the Spartans coasted to a 33-23 victory. Lupie again led the boys in scoring 11 points.

A 34-31 loss to Upper Iowa, after enjoying a 16-10 lead at halftime, marked the Spartans' most poorly played game of the season. Schwartz and Werkheiser were lost on fouls, to further dampen the Dubuque cause.

Football was the order of the day at Decorah, as the Spartans tangled with Luther only to again taste defeat 24-21. In this game Ralph Hayenga made his first appearance with the Dubuque team.

The return game with Luther at Dubuque marked the opening of the Spartan winning streak that was to be broken only by St. Ambrose before the close of the season. Luther led 15-13 at the rest period, but the sharp shooting of Peterson and Riedel spelled their defeat. With five minutes to play Dubuque led 23-21, but they matched point for point a Luther spurt, to wind up the game leading 36-34.

The Spartans' next victims were the Buena Vista Beavers who bowed in a run-away game 45-31. Riedel and Schwartz bore the brunt of the scoring, getting 15 and 13 points in that order.

Overpowered by the Championship St. Ambrose five, the Spartans lost 42-25. Riedel led the Dubuque scorers with 10 points, to remain among the Conference high point men.

The return engagement with the Iowa Wesleyan Tigers saw the scores reversed, and this time Dubuque was the winner to the tune of 29-27.

In a rough and tumble game in which Parsons lost three men by the foul route, the Spartans continued their winning ways to ring up a 49-30 victory.

Parsons followed the Spartans back to Dubuque, only to lose again by a 31-22 margin.

The Spartans fell on Upper Iowa when they came to Dubuque, to turn in a 43-35 victory. The game had all the earmarks of a football game, and kept the fans well entertained. Hayenga and Schwartz led in the scoring, while Reidel did a fine job in holding down the Upper Iowa hot shots.

The last game of the season found the Spartans evening the score with the Central College Dutchmen by trimming them 33-29. Central cut down the Spartan halftime lead of 17-10 to only four points, but never really threatened seriously.

Werkheiser proved himself a bulwark at the guard post with his rebound and pass work. He was ably assisted by Bill Reidel's guarding, and the outstanding floor work of Schwartz. Lupie came in for a great deal of praise for his hard play. Peterson and Hayenga both were able to supply a scoring punch when needed. Lozosky too, deserves credit for steady play and scoring ability, while McDonald often proved to be the necessary spark.

The Spartan B Team, well supplied, for a change, with good material, turned in an excellent season. They played several of the leading local and out-of-town independent teams with a better than average record of victories.

Wrestling

Varsity wrestling at Dubuque has made a fine record for its first year. Handicapped by a late start, and a lack of experienced material, Coach "Dutch" Schultz worked his candidates hard on fundamentals, and on getting them into condition. Blue silk wrestling suits and a new regulation mat-cover were given by the athletic department for meets.

The team was ragged in several weights, but it soon became evident that Lungwitz, Casteel, Konzett, and Dodge would be hard to stop.

The first varsity match, January 28, found the new team putting on a great finish to nose out the Tri-Cities Y. M. C. A., of Davenport, 24 to 23. Dodge and Lungwitz scored falls for the home team.

On the first road trip for the Dubuque matmen, February 15, our team showed a marked improvement, defeating Davenport in a return meet, 29½ to 11½.

The following Friday, February 17, the Spartans suffered their only defeat of the season, losing to powerful Cornell College, at Mount Vernon, Iowa, 25 to 12. The "four horsemen" mentioned above, came through to score our only points.

On Saturday, February 18, the team continued its road trip to Grinnell, where it showed fine form in defeating Grinnell College 23 to 15. By this time the grapplers were beginning to show some of the finesse and aggressiveness that mark a good wrestler.

The University wrestlers scored their most decisive victory of the season, overwhelming Augustana College 29 to 5, at Moline, Ill. The team came very close to a complete whitewash, in sweeping to their fourth win in five starts.

The team finished the competitive year by winning second place at the Wheaton, Ill., Invitational Tournament. Captain Bob Lungwitz won the championship in the 121 pound class, and Milton Konzett copped the 136 pound division. Delbert Casteel and John Broussard won second places in their weights, and Nate Dodge took a third. The gold trophy brought back by the grapplers symbolizes a highly successful year in this sport.

Track

The 1938 edition of the University of Dubuque Track Squad was one of the most successful in many years. Second only to a powerful Simpson team in the Conference meet, the Spartans were undefeated in other competition throughout the season.

By allowing Upper Iowa only one first place, the Spartans opened the season with a 91 to 40 victory led by Capt. Herb Fetrow. High scorers were "Chocolate Comet" Gibbs and freshman Bob Stoneburner. Husky Bob Jones, another freshman, cracked a nine year old record when he ran the half mile in 2:06.5. Gibbs stepped off the 100 in 10 seconds flat to tie the old record set by Sol Butler in 1917.

The team next journeyed to Decorah where the Luther cinder paths were the scene of a 73-37-25 victory over the Norsemen and Wartburg. Paced by Stoneburner and Earl the Spartans took nine firsts and seven seconds. Bob Jones circled the half-mile track in the sparkling time of 2:03.6 to crack his own record set two weeks before.

St. Ambrose proved a push-over for the high riding Spartan tracksters as they ran out a 90 to 41 victory, but no records were forthcoming.

A six-team Invitational Meet at Luther marked the next success of Coach Peterson's squad. It was a nip and tuck battle with St. Olaf's and La Crosse, with the Spartans finally winning by a two point margin, Dubuque—41½, St. Olaf 39½, La Crosse—38, Luther—27. "Porky" Earl pushed the shot out to a new record of 44' 10" to better his own 44' 8" effort at Beloit in '37. Blaha's victory in the pole vault gave him an undefeated record for the season.

Artie Blaha was the star of the Conference meet, where he cracked Emery's old pole vault record and hung up a new mark of 11' 11". Earl took the only other Spartan first in the shot. Gibbs, Fetrow, Dodge and Lyerly also added points to the total of 36 which spelled second place.

Tennis

With three of last year's four lettermen returning, another successful year in tennis got underway in September at the University of Dubuque as the Spartan net men twice defeated Cornell College's team in dual meets by scores of 5-1 and 5-2. Lettermen Clarence Falkenhainer and Robert Peterson led the attack aided by last year's alternate man, Dave Knautz and freshmen Homer Conzett and Albert Ney.

Soon after these matches the weather forced the net men indoors where the candidates for the four-man Spring and Summer team held regular practice sessions under the tutelage of Tennis Coach Ed. A. Wight in preparation for the first Spring tour ever made by a Spartan net team. Ned Garvin, 1938 letterman, returned to the squad at this time to strengthen it considerably.

On the afternoon of March 31, Clarence Falkenhainer, Robert Peterson, Ned Garvin and Dave Knautz left Dubuque with Coach Wight and headed southwest. Their first match was played on April 3 at Norman, Oklahoma, where the Spartans went down to their first defeat in two years 6-0 at the hands of the powerful Sooner net men. During the next two days, the Dubuque team lost two matches by scores of 5-1 and 6-0 to Baylor University at Waco, Texas and to the University of Texas at Austin, Texas, respectively. Bob Peterson scored the only point for the Dubuque men in the Baylor University match.

On the final day of the trip, the Spartans invaded Texas A & M and tied the Texans 3-3 in a well played dual match. Falkenhainer succeeded in winning his singles match and then teamed with Garvin to score a doubles victory. Peterson and Knautz ended the trip with a victory over the Texas team's other doubles pair.

During the season, this same four-man team with Homer Conzett as alternate participated in dual matches with other colleges and universities, and will defend their Iowa Conference team championship in Dubuque on May 12 and 13. Peterson won the 1938 singles title of the Iowa Conference by defeating Falkenhainer in the finals and then joined Falkenhainer to win the doubles championship.

Athletic Award

ROBERT PETERSON

The Individual Athletic Trophy for 1937-38 was won by Robert Peterson, of Dubuque. One of the finest athletes in the school, he has been a sparkplug on the basketball team for three years, won the Iowa Conference tennis singles title, and shared in the doubles crown. He has also been a point getter in track, and in intramural sports he has been school champion in several divisions. He had the distinction of making the requirements for Sigma Delta Psi, national athletic fraternity, in his freshman year.
